- Year: 1961
- Manufacturer: Gibson
- Model: Les Paul SG
- Case: Original Hard
- Color: Cherry
- Condition: Excellent
- Description: Up for sale a 1961 Gibson Les Paul SG in excellent condition and in perfect working order. This guitar features a pair of PAF humbuckers that have "the tone." The mahogany neck has a newer professional refret and the perfect slim C 60's neck profile. The headstock has the original Gibson logo and Les Paul truss rod cover. The tuners are new Kluson style machines with single ring buttons. The headstock was broken between the 2nd and 3rd frets and has been professionally repaired and oversprayed. A new serial number was also added to the back of the headstock at this time. There was no damage to the fretboard when the neck broke and the break is nearly invisible in the guitar's current state. The body features a pair of 1959 long magnet PAF pickups that have the jaw-dropping tone these pickups are known for. The rest of the electronics are original as well as the knobs, pickguard, pickup rings and bridge. The sideways vibrato was originally a gold plated model that has had the plating removed on all of the visible surfaces. The gold is still visible on the underside of the cover. Under the vibrato unit are a myriad of small holes from various tailpieces. All of these holes have been filled and touched up. The body has some moderate buckle rash, but nothing through the finish. There is light checking on the entire instrument and a very small finish crack at the heel of the neck that is not structural. This instrument is a spectacular player with all of the important period correct parts. Plus it plays like a dream!
